ICAR-National Dairy Research Institute
Karnal, Haryana-132001

ICAR- National Agricultural Higher Education Project
sponsored training programme under Institute Development Programme

Scientific feeding management of livestock for improving production performance

March 17 to 21, 2020 (5 days)

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

• The candidates (Feed manufacturer, Quality control officer, involved in feed additive industry, Dairy Farm managers and Dairy Entrepreneurs) must submit their applications (speed post only) latest by 31st February 2020 to the Course Coordinator through the Head of the Organization.
• Selection will be on merits of the candidates, first come first serve basis and if number of candidates are more, may be accommodated in the next training programme.
• Selected candidates will be intimated through emails by 4th March, 2020.
• The candidates will have to confirm their participation latest by 10th March, 2020

LECTURE SCHEDULE

• Role of livestock in livelihood security of Indian farmers
• Improving energy utilization vis-a-vis reducing methane emission
• Advancing puberty in male animals for better semen quality
• Feeding strategies to enhance milk quality
• Web based ration formulation programme for dairy animals
• Utilization of agro-industrial byproducts
• Bypass nutrient technology: boon to dairy industry
• Measuring enteric methane emission: SF6 tracer technique
• Symbiotic formulation for improving calf health
• Aflatoxin exposure in feed: An overview
• Quality control of feed materials: wet analysis of ingredients
• Group discussion cum workshop on feeding management

CONTACT DETAILS

Dr. Goutam Mondal
Senior Scientist& Coordinator
AN Division, NDRI, Karnal
Email: gmondal1075@gmail.com
Mob: 9466966471

Dr Sachin Kumar
Scientist & Coordinator
AN Division, NDRI, Karnal
arensachin@gmail.com
Mob: 9671267521

Boarding and lodging
The participants will be accommodated in the Institute Guest house facilities on sharing basis without any extra cost and will be provided food. Applicants are advised not to be accompanied by family members while coming for the course in view of accommodation issues.

Course Fee: Rs.15,000/- per participant

Bank details for depositing fee
Name_: ICAR UNIT -NDRI-NAHEP,
Payable at: KARNAL
A/c No- 37610454709
IFSC CODE: SBIN050326
MICR NO: 132002123

Number of participants: 20(max)
Application form for the Participation in
ICAR- National Agricultural Higher Education Project
sponsored training programme under Institute Development Programme
on
Scientific feeding management of livestock for improving production performance
March 17-21, 2020

• Full Name (in block letters) .................................................................
• Date of birth ..................................................................................
• Designation ..................................................................................
• Present Employer and address ................................................................
• Address for correspondence ..............................................................
  Phone: ..................................................................................
  Mobile: ..................................................................................
  Email: ..................................................................................
  Fax: ..................................................................................
• Permanent Address ..........................................................................
• Professional experience (last 5 years):
  .................................................................................................
• Publications
The details of advanced course attended in last 3 years
...........................................................................................................
NEFT/RTGS No........................................dated...............in favour of ICAR UNIT
NDRI, NAHEP, payable at Karnal

Date....................
Place...................

Signature of the applicant:

Recommendation of the forwarding Organization:
Signature......................
Designation..................